

ABOUT ME

Hello! I'm

JESSICA HUFFMAN

Jessica Huffman is a passionate communicator, creative leader, and community builder with a deep desire to see people walk boldly in their God-given purpose.

She's been married to her best friend, Jason, for over 19 years and is a proud mom to two amazing young adults, Gabe and Zoe. Together, she and Jason help lead and love Pneuma Life Church in Northeast Florida, where Jessica serves in leadership and the Creative Arts Department, overseeing worship, media, and serving while mentoring and discipling others.

Jessica is also the founder of #GirlGang, a transformative in-person and online discipleship community that helps women grow in their daily relationship with Jesus through three powerful habits.

As the founder of Your Biggest Fan, a social media and marketing company, she empowers faith-driven entrepreneurs and real estate professionals to tell their story with purpose and impact. She loves cheering people on to show up well in the online space!

If she's not posting on social, chasing down her teens, or sipping on a Starbucks, you'll probably find her at the gym, studying her bible, building community with her people, dreaming up her next creative business idea or snuggling her fluffy sidekick, Dolce the Maltese.

Jessica is known for her warmth, wit, and willingness to speak truth in love. Whether she's leading a Bible study, teaching from a platform, or encouraging someone one-on-one, her mission remains the same: to help people encounter Jesus and His local church, embrace their unique purpose, and show up well while doing it!
